Tug Nicol's Passengers Missing.

SEARCHINGFOR THE BODIES.

"The Evening World" Sends a Tug to Scour the Lower Bay for Victims.

CORONER WILL INVESTIGATE.

An Effort Will Be Made to Fix the Blame for Yesterday's Terrible Disaster.

An overladen tug, a foolhardy skip-per, a boy at the wheel, open bunker plates and a tin can that journeyed too often between the beer kegs and the crew of the tug James D. Nicol are some of the causes given for the ter-rible disaster which overtook the fishing party of the Herring Fishing Club yesterday afternoon, in which the tug foundered off Sandy Hook, with a party of eighty or more men on board, and many lives were sacrificed.

So far as can be learned, the names of the drowned and missing are as fol-

The Bridge Company requested that they also be given a hearing to propose such plans as they think necessary. The question of a promerade upon the new structure is fast becoming popular, not only with the public, but also with the Company, and the chances that it will be constructed are very bright. Secretary Swan said to-day that as yet the project is not far enough advanced for any definite statement, but the Company would assuredly listen to the wish of the people.
